

DEPARTMENT OF MICROBIOLOGY

REPORT OF THE EVENT

NATIONAL CONFERENCE ON ESPIALS OF BIOMOLECULES

(NCEB-2020)

Participants: 167

The National Conference on Espials of Biomolecules 2020 was organized by the Department of Microbiology on 26.02.2020 at 10 A.M in Bharathi Hall. The National conference was commenced with an incantation by the students of Microbiology department followed by the illumination ritual by all the dignitaries on the dias.

Inaugural Ceremony

Inaugural Ceremony

Welcoming Guest

Welcoming Guest

The organizing secretaries of this National conference are Dr. M. Kulandhaivel, Associative professor and Dr. K. Sahithya, Assistant professor, Department of Microbiology. The welcome address was presented by Dr. R. Usha, Head, and Department of microbiology cum convener of this National Conference on Espials of Biomolecules 2020.

After a delightful welcome, a brief description about the seminar was presented by Dr. K. Sahithya. The souvenir entitled “National conference on Espials of Biomolecules 2020” was released by the dignitaries on the dias. The presidential address was delivered by the registrar, Dr. M. Palaniswamy, Karpagam Academy of Higher Education. He explained the significance of biomolecules and congratulated the volunteers of the mega event.

Welcome Address

Vote of Thanks

Proceedings release

Presidential Address

The felicitation was preceded by Dr. B. V. Pradeep, Deputy registrar, Karpagam academy of higher education. He encouraged all the students to take part in the presentation events in the forum.

Conference was addressed by the eminent chief guest Dr. Ravindra Kumar, Principal scientist, ICAR, National Bureau of Fish Genetic Resources, Lucknow. He precisely explained the importance of fisheries domain and it created new concepts in the minds of the future scientists in the convention.

Delivering Lecture

Listening Lecture

Along the side by side concurrent poster and oral presentation for the external and internal students have been took place. The judges remarked them with the good complements for their excellent presentation with innovative ideas.

The next session was initiated by the second chief guest, Dr. T. T. Ajith Kumar, Principal Scientist, Peninsular Marine Genetic Resource Centre, CMFRI, Kochinhas proceeded with his charismatic presentation to the students. He mainly insisted the students to conserve the natural biodiversity of the fisheries. He described the domestic, exotic and ornamental breeds of fishes with the splendid presentation.

Audience

The next session was initiated by our reputed Dean Dr. N. V. Balaji. The students and scholars were inspired by his eloquent speech. He emphasized about the Espials of Biomolecules.

Proceedings on Espials of Biomolecules are published with ISBN number which contains 67 abstracts from various colleges and Universities. 167 students and research scholar were benefitted.

As a token of our gratitude the chief guests were honored by the Dean Dr. N. V. Balaji. The winners of oral and poster presentation were awarded with certificates by the Chief Guest and Head Department of Microbiology.

Finally vote of thanks was delivered by the illustrious organizing secretary Dr. M. Kulandhaivel and the conference ended with immense pleasure.